

Lawrence A. Husick's experience as a technology consultant, computer system designer, and software author, as well as his career as an intellectual property lawyer give him a unique perspective on technology's importance in international relations, war fighting, and terrorism. He serves as a Foreign Policy Research Institute Senior Fellow and also co-directs the Institute's Wachman Center Program on Innovation.

He is the managing partner of Lipton, Weinberger & Husick, an intellectual property law firm in Malvern, Pennsylvania, and teaches at the Johns Hopkins University Whiting Graduate School of Engineering. He is a founder of several entrepreneurial ventures, including Infonautics, PocketDoctor.com, Cloud Pharmaceuticals, Inc., and Nuromo LLC, where he serves as Chief Innovation Officer. Mr. Husick serves on the boards of the American Helicopter Museum and Education Center, the Clear Vision Foundation, and the Muhlenberg College RJ Fellows Honors Program. He is a founding board member and Chairman of the Quantum Cures Foundation, which supports the use of artificial intelligence technologies in healthcare.

Mr. Husick holds a Bachelor of Science degree cum laude in Environmental Chemistry from Muhlenberg College in Allentown, Pennsylvania. He holds a Juris Doctor degree from the Washington College of Law in Washington, D.C.